

Stephane Lemeret replaces Julian Schroyens in Hungary Atlas eFX-Team FS' home event is themed "health aid"

Montenegro, August 12, 2010

The Belgian professional driver Stephane Lemeret takes the wheel of the Atlas eFX-Team FS-Saleen at the Hungaroring. The home race of the Montenegrin team is standing under a special motto this season. Co-Sponsor LIV (www.liv.com), under the auspices of the British/Australian pop diva Olivia Newton John, wants to draw attention to this particular race weekend on preventive measures for the prevention of breast cancer in women. The anti-smoking campaign "Help - For a live without tobacco", launched in March 2005 by EU Commissioner Markos Kyprianou will also be part of the program. The team internally called "LIV-Race" will be accompanied by a high media-based Paddock Party on Sunday evening. Guest of honor will be the former Formula 1 racing driver Zsolt Baumgartner, with whom the team stands in negotiations for the InterContinental Le Mans Cup.

For the race on the legendary 4.384 km long track in the north of Budapest, it has set itself high goals. The outstanding performance from the last race in Portimao (P) shall be continued. Carlo van Dam (NL), Adam Laczko (CZ) and Stephane Lemeret (B), who will replace the young Belgian Julien Schroyens will try to manage to start the race again from pole position.
