

TDS attacks Endurance

27 January 2011

Info PRESS

Unbeatable in the Eurocup Megane Trophy, TDS is taking on a new challenge : Endurance
In only six years of competition, TDS has built up an incredible list of successes culminating last year with victory not only in the Team championship but also with Nick Catsburg and Jean Philippe Madonia in the two drivers' categories.

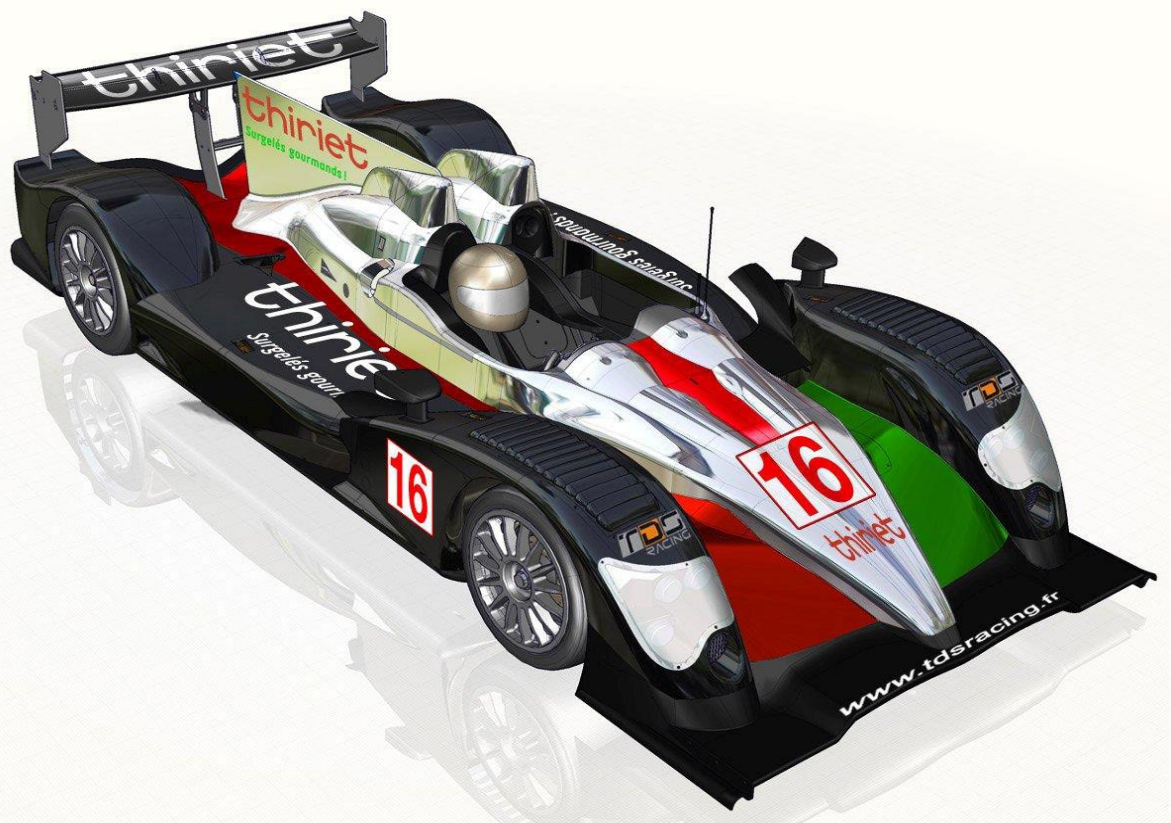

For his first year in this competition Pierre Thiriet completed the TDS success story of the French Team by achieving the title of vice-champion.

As announced in Auto-Hebdo No. 1789, available from yesterday, Xavier Combet and his team have taken the decision to go the Endurance route and take on the new challenge to present an Oreca 03 with a Nissan engine and most probably equipped with Michelin tyres at the Le Mans Series.

Impressive during his first experience in the Eurocup Megane Trophy, Pierre Thiriet, whose father was predominant in bringing this project to life, will have the Swiss driver Matthias Beche as team mate, Matthias having participated in the Formula Le Mans for the last 2 years.

TDS has introduced its application to participate in this year's 24h of Le Mans, starting June 11.

TDS will continue to participate in the Eurocup Megane trophy 2011 and will shortly release all details concerning its business partners to the World Series by Renault and appointed drivers. No doubt we will read more about that in future publications.

thiriet
Serges gourmands!

ORECA

Cosworth

Malongo

MOTUL

MICHELIN

BARDAHL